

Tim Hilhorst

Scrum Master, Front-end Developer

Personal Summary

An all-round creator with a passion for (web)design, innovation, sustainability, transformation and team work. With an architect's degree, I started with Cognizant Technology Solutions as a young professional in front-end development. At Delft University of Technology I learned to combine design and technology from concept to realisation.

I'm a team player looking for opportunities to contribute my knowledge of scrum, continuous delivery, front-end development, visual, spatial and interaction design in challenging projects with a customer-centered approach.

Career History

09/2013 - to date

Scrum Master, Front-end Developer - Cognizant Technology Services (full time)

Seconded to the largest financial services provider in the Netherlands, I have been part of several scrum teams creating features, portlets and the responsive redesign of the corporate website. All projects required close collaboration with the scrum team, visual and UX designers, business analysts and content managers. Currently I am the scrum master for a team which develops apps/features for the bank's redesigned, cutting-edge framework.

08/2011 - 03/2012

Research Internship - Stevens Van Dijck construction managers and advisors (full time)

A research was conducted to see the effects of a sustainable ambition on investment and operation costs. A range of BREEAM-certified case studies were researched to help develop a plan to better facilitate and manage a sustainable design.

Team Leader PR, Communications and Acquisitions - TU Delft ReVolt House (fulltime)

A project which involved the design and build of a fully functional solar powered home for the prestigious student competition Solar Decathlon Europe 2012. For this TU Delft dream team I was in charge of PR, communications and sponsorship, which involved many negotiations with university, research institutions, government and (building) companies.

09/2010 - 09/2013

Junior Webdeveloper / SEO Specialist - QuelMediA (12 hours per week)

Quel brings suppliers and purchasing organization in contact with each other that are looking for products or services in Google. QuelMediA specializes in search engine marketing, search engine optimization as well as search engine advertising.

01/2010 - 06/2010

Internship - Rudy Uytenhaak Architectenbureau (36 hours per week)

A five month internship where I was working on a wide range of activities, i.e. technical drawings, scale models, posters, presentation booklets, renderings and the development of the new company website.

Testimonial

"I had the pleasure of having Tim as part of my team for roughly two years. During this period Tim moved from being a beginner to a highly valued front-end developer, a journey that takes much longer for typical front-end resources. [...] On top of it he has a very frank and clear communication style that again makes him an ideal member of an Agile team. It's no wonder then, that when we asked our esteemed client about their future requirements, Tim was consistently mentioned as an example."
